When heartbroken mime turned web cooking show host, Tallulah Grace, has an on-air meltdown, inadvertently saving the life of a viewer, she develops a delusional messiah complex which no lack of ratings, threats of cancellation or serious doubts from her macho Argentinean cameraman Diego can dampen.

Screwball comedy Feathers and Toast is a show within a show featuring desperate 30 something Tallulah (Mhairi Morrison) who presents herself as an inspirational chef but struggles to pull off anything more ambitious than scrambled eggs. As soon as her cooking demo ends and "that's a wrap" is called Tallulah turns to Diego for moral support and advice on her lost love in France while railing against producer Holster and her attempts to boost ratings by booking a motley crew of special guests.

Mhairi Morrison, creator and star, trained at the Royal Conservatoire in Glasgow, Scotland and Jacques Le Coq, Paris. Feature film credits include Young Adam, (with Ewan McGregor and Tilda Swinton) O, Jerusalem, (with Ian Holm) and Green Street Hooligans (with Elijah Wood). TV credits include Casualty (BBC), Emo (C4) and Missing (ITV) Since moving to LA she has performed and produced stand up comedy, created and co produced 2 seasons of Feathers and Toast and in April begins a monthly residency at the Sofitel, Beverly Hills with Cabaret Versatile, opening and hosting the show as her character Tallulah Grace. www.mhairimorrison.com
